EMAAR

EMAAR

An aerial photograph of a coastal scene. The bottom half of the image shows a light-colored sandy beach. A thin, white, foamy line of waves runs horizontally across the center, separating the sand from the water. Above the beach, the ocean extends to the horizon. The water has a gradient color, transitioning from a pale blue near the shore to a deeper, more vibrant turquoise further out. The overall composition is minimalist and peaceful.
